

Important information regarding the Programme Specification

Programme title and qualifications

Undergraduate degrees of the University of London are awarded with Honours. The award certificate will indicate the level of the academic performance (Honours) achieved by classifying the award. The classification of the degree will be based on the ratified marks from the completed assessments.

Programme title

Politics and International Relations

Qualifications

Bachelor of Science in Politics and International Relations

Exit qualifications

- x Diploma of Higher Education
- x Certificate of Higher Education

An exit qualification is an intermediate qualification, for which the student may not have registered at the outset but which may be awarded on completion of specific modules/courses (or credit accumulated) in a longer programme of study, if the student leaves the programme.

Exit qualifications are awarded at the discretion of the Board of Examiners and once a student has accepted an exit qualification they will not normally be permitted to continue their study of the same award with the University of London.

These exit qualifications are unnamed.

Individual courses

There is no provision for individual courses of the programme to be studied on a stand-alone basis.

Notes

The BSc degree in Politics and International Relations is available through a 12 course Standard Route and a 9 course Graduate Entry Route.
