

Transport Policy

Intercollegiate Halls

Contents

Introduction	3
Walking	3
Cars.....	3
Cycles.....	3
Motorcycles	3
Buses.....	3
London Underground (The Tube)	3
Taxis	4

Version: 2.0
Revised: 24 January 2023
Next review: December 2023

Introduction

The Halls are well served by public transport, travelling to and from University these lines in order to reach your destination.

Russell Square is on the Piccadilly Line which runs between Heathrow in the west through to Cockfosters in the north. Tube maps are available from all London Underground Stations or London Transport Information kiosks, or viewed online at www.tfl.gov.uk. The Oyster Card is an electronic card that can hold purchased credit for use on tubes and buses, or details of purchased long-term travel cards. Oyster cards can be obtained at all London Underground stations, the nearest to the Halls' being Russell Square, King Cross or Euston (for those in Bloomsbury) or Paddington, Edgware Road or Marble Arch (for Lillian Penson Hall and Nutford House) and Stratford Station (for Eleanor Rosa House).

Further details can be found on the website www.tfl.gov.uk and full time students are eligible for a 30% discount, further information can be found at www.tfl.gov.uk.

Taxis

London Black Cabs can be seen in abundance around central London. Those that are available for hire have the orange light lit up above the windscreen, and can be hailed from the side of the road. They are expensive if used by one passenger, however it may be very cost effective for students to share a cab between four or five people if you are all going to the same place. Residents are strongly advised not to use unlicensed mini-cabs. Many of these can be found late at night, especially around pubs and clubs, however there are no regulations covering the drivers and safety is certainly not assured.

london.ac.uk